

Blum Update: March 27, 2020

From the day Blum started in the United States, we have always made our employees and our customers the top priority. Over the past few weeks, we have all been impacted by the spread of the coronavirus in one way or another. As the situation continues to evolve, we are following the recommendations of public health officials and government agencies to ensure that we are doing all that we can for our employees and the community to remain protected, while continuing to serve our customers' needs. We are encouraged by our motivated and agile teams who look for new ways to continue to make this happen.

Here at Blum US we will remain open with production and logistics fully operational. We have encouraged those who can work from home, to do so. The safety of all employees as well as servicing our customers is our top priority.

We are following the recommendations of public health officials and government agencies to ensure that we are doing all that we can for our employees and the community to remain protected. We are practicing social distancing, we have encouraged employees to work from home, we are staggering shifts and we have increased the frequency in sanitizing common areas, doorknobs, railings, etc. throughout the facility.

This is an uncertain time and we know things can change in the blink of an eye, which is why we appreciate your dedication and support, as we weather this storm together. The next few weeks will continue to present a challenge to all companies from a health perspective as well as an economic perspective. If you have any questions or concerns please don't hesitate to reach out to us, we are still here for you: 1-800-438-6788
